EMERGENCY PREPAREDNESS NEWSLETTER

December 1, 2009

It's that magical, special time of year! Holiday preparations are in full swing!

Being prepared for the holidays usually means checking your shopping list (twice, of course!), sending out Christmas cards, and planning for holiday parties. We look forward to spending time around the Christmas tree, seeing friends and enjoying this wonderful time of year!

It's a time when we give thanks for a multitude of things.

Please take a moment to say thanks to those who dedicate their lives to making us safe and keeping us well. Emergencies know no holidays, and these folks will be working.

To all the volunteer firefighters, police and sheriff's officers and staff, ambulance crews, state troopers and ER staff, THANK YOU for watching out for us and taking care of us when we need you. We hope that you have safe and quiet holidays and that you are able to go home to your families and loved ones.

Feliz Navidad!
